

Title of poem

This is a generic poem
This is the second line
This is the third,
incoming end rhyme
on the next word.

2nd stanza, needs more rhyme.
Coming up with internal rhyme is infernal,
but I just did it.
It has to have a rhyme scheme,
but I won't quit.

Minimum 3 stanza requirement fulfilled
it needs a simile .
This poem is more boring than first hour on a Monday.
I'll finish the rest of the poem if I can.

4th stanza, no alliteration.
The second lines' letters should stay similar.
This is tedious, too terribly tricky.
Try topping that.
Any other word choice would have sounded icky.

The 5th stanza needs imagery.
It'll take vivid words and adjectives.
An idea hit me with rambunctious intrusion.
This poem is over.
Generic conclusion.

20 pts. Terms to Know – Write a poem about anything you want, but it must meet each of the requirements below:

1. Must be at least two stanzas
2. Must use TWO examples of alliteration
3. Must use TWO examples of internal rhyme
4. Must use TWO examples of imagery (sensory details)
5. Must use ONE example of figurative language (simile, metaphor, personification)

6. Must use TWO examples of end rhyme